Is Free Stuff Really Free?

There is an old saying:

There's no such thing as a "Free Lunch"

Free Stuff on the Internet isn't really free.

- You might pay with personal information
- You might pay by have to watch an ad
- You might pay by having fewer features

Read EULAs and Terms of Use

Common Licenses

- Public Domain License – free to use and modify without restrictions
- Open Source License - allow to be freely used, modified, and shared
- General Public License (GPL) – users can copy or change code
- Creative Commons Copyright License – several varieties. Most require users to attribute

Those Were Just a Few Licenses

There are thousands of “free” licenses
